Land of Confusion
Genesis

```
F#     F#m

B      C#m
            I must've dreamed a thousand dreams
E      F#
            Been hunted by a million screams
A      B
            But I can hear the marching feet
B      C#m
            They're moving into the street.
B      C#m
            Now did you read the news today
E      F#
            They say the danger's gone away
A      B
            But I can see the fire's still alight
B      C#m
            Burning into the night.

        B          C#m
There's too many men
C#m7      F#         B         C#m
Too many people making too many problems
E     B                B         C#m
       And not much love to go round
C#m7          F#         B         C#m        E     B
       Can't you see this is a land of confusion

       C#m7      A      B    G#m
            This is the world we live in
       C#m           A      B    G#m
            and these are the hands we're given
       C#m           A      B    G#m
            use them and let's start trying
       C#m           A      B    G#m
            to make it a place worth living in

       F#     F#m

```
B      C#m
            Superman where are you now
E      F#
            When everything's gone wrong somehow
A      B
            The men of steel, men of power
B      C#m
            Are losing control by the hour

      B            C#m
     This is the time
C#m7      F#            B        C#m
This is the place so we look for the future
E      B                  B          C#m
     But there's not much love to go round
C#m7          F#            B          C#m         E      B
     Tell me why, this is a land of confusion.

      C#m7      A      B    G#m
          This is the world we live in
      C#m7      A      B    G#m
          And these are the hands we're given
      C#m7      A      B    G#m
          Use them and let's start trying
      C#m7      A      B    G#m
          To make it a place worth living in.

                                                          I remember
            Bbm              Eb
          long ago     when the sun was shining
                  Ebm
          The stars were bright all through the night
                  Db            Ab/C      Bbm        Eb
          And the sound of your laughter          as I held you
                  F#                A        A         A          A Tight        so long ago

          A     B     A     B

B       C#m
I won't be coming home tonight
E       F#
My generation will put it right
A       B
We're not just making promises
B       C#m
That we know, we'll never keep.

        B           C#m
There's too many men
C#m7      F#            B          C#m
Too many people making too many problems
E     B                 B          C#m
      And not much love to go round
C#m7           F#           B         C#m         E      B
      Can't you see this is a land of confusion

        C#m7      A     B    G#m
        This is the world we live in
        C#m                 A    B    G#m
        and these are the hands we're given
        C#m           A     B    G#m
        use them and let's start trying
        C#m           A     B    G#m
        to make it a place worth living in
        C#m7      A     B    G#m
        This is the world we live in
        C#m                 A    B     G#m
        and these are the names we're given
        C#m           A     B    G#m
        Stand up and let's start showing
        C#m           A     B    G#m
        Just where our lives are going to
